

Understanding Intention: Elizabeth Anscombe's
Philosophical Psychology
by Steven R. Bayne

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements

INTRODUCTION

- a) Logical Positivism and the Humanist Response
- b) Private Languages before Wittgenstein (circa 1940)
- c) Acts of Will and Willful Acts

PART 1: INTENTION AND KNOWLEDGE

- 1: 'Prediction', 'Intention', and 'Intentional'
- 2: Prediction, Commands and the "Falsity" of Expressions of Intention.
- 3: Expressions of Intention, Prediction and Talking Leaves.
- 4: The Agent as Sole Authority in Knowledge of Intentions

PART 2: REASONS, INTENTIONS, AND KNOWLEDGE

- 5: "...A Certain Sense of the Question 'Why?'"
 - a. Some Gricean Points
- 6: Intentional 'Under a Description'
 - a. Anscombe's Later Discussion of 'Under a Description'
 - b. Davidson's Use of 'Under a Description'
 - c. The Intentionality of Sensation
 - d. Anscombe's Criticism of Davidson on Agency
 - e. Davidson on Tying One's Shoes 'Under a Description'
- 7: The Involuntary
- 8: Non-Observational Knowledge
 - a. Donnellan on 'Knowing What I Am Doing'
- 9: A Difficult Distinction Based on Causation
- 10: Introducing Mental Causes
- 11: Mental Causes are neither Intentions nor Desires
- 13: Backward Looking Motives and Motives-In-General
- 14: Mental Causes and Backward-Looking Motives
- 15: Mental Causes or Reasons?

PART 2: ACTING WITHOUT REASON

- 16: "I Don't Know Why I Did It"
- 17: "I Don't Know Why I Did It" (Continued)
- 18: When the Answer to the Question 'Why?' Makes No Sense
- 19: What Makes an Action Intentional?
- 20: Non-Forward Looking Intentional Actions
- 21: Chains Consisting of Actions

PART 3: SERIES OF INTENTIONAL ACTIONS

- 22: Acting "with the Intention That"
- 23: Whether an Intentional Action has a Unique Description as Such
- 24: Individuating Actions
- 25: Identifying Intentional Actions
- 26: How Many Actions are There?
- 27: Acts of Intending and the Presumption of Their Efficacy
 - a. Intentional Acts of Creation
- 28: Observational Knowledge of Intentions, Again
- 29: I Do What Happens
- 30: Against the Idea of Intentions as Initiating Causes of Action
- 31: Knowledge of Intention is not Like Our Knowledge of Commands
- 32: Lists and Two Kinds of Error: Introducing Practical Wisdom

PART 4: PRACTICAL WISDOM

- 33: Aristotle's Practical Syllogism
 - a. R. M. Hare and "Insane Premises"
 - b. Davidson and "Insane Premises"
- 34: Wants and Practical Reasoning
- 35: Wanting as the Starting Point of a Practical Syllogism
 - a. Actions as processes
 - b. Wants not Included in a Practical Syllogism
 - c. Incontinence and the Division of Responsibility
 - d. The Difference between Theoretical and Practical Syllogisms
- 36: Wanting and Its Place in Reasoning
- 37: Desirability Characterizations
- 38: How We Arrive at Desirability Characterizations
- 39: The Non-necessity of any Particular Desirability Characterization in Relation to Wanting
- 40: The Similarity of the Relations of Wanting to Good and Judgment to Truth.
 - a. Ryle on Pleasure
 - b. Choice, Volition, and Intention
- 41: Ethics and Philosophical Psychology
 - a. 'Ought' and the Divine Law
 - c. Speculative Remarks on Volition and Intention
- 42: Practical Reasoning and Mental Processes
- 43: The Complexity of 'Doing'
- 44: Acting with an Idea of an End
- 45: The Problem of Practical Knowledge
- 46: Interest and the Why-Question
- 47: 'Intentional' and the Form of Description
 - a. Animal Intentions
- 48: Practical Knowledge and 'Knowledges'
- 49: The Meaning of 'Voluntary'

- a. Davidson on Voluntary Action without Intention
 - b. Observation and Voluntary Movement
50. Intentions and Predictions
51. Wanting and the Future
- 52: 'I am Going to but I Won't'

PART 5: SINGULAR CAUSATION

- a. Hume, Popper, and Regularity
- b. Russell and the Idea of Lawlikeness
- c. Singularity vs. Regularity
- d. Anscombe on Hume
- e. Russell's Anticipation of Davidson/Ducasse
- f. Anscombe on the Singularity of Causation
- g. Applying Kripke to Singular Causation
- h. Calling into Question the Necessary A Posteriori
- i. The Singularist View and Knowledge of Actions
- j. Feynman, Bohm, and the "Magic" Box
- k. Anscombe, Bohm and Mechanistic Determinism
- l. Reconciling Singularity and Regularity Theories

PART 6: CAUSATION AND AGENCY

- a. The Causes of Action
- b. Anscombe and Chisholm
- c. Chisholm's 1966 Position on Agent Causation
- d. Melden's Problem(s) with Volition
- e. Anscombe Critique of Chisholm
- f. Davidson and Anscombe on Agent Causation
- g. James, Volition, and Anomalous Monism

PART 7: PERSONAL EPILOGUE